Since the disclosures of the media house “Correctiv” hundreds of thousands of people throughout Germany have been demonstrating against right-wing extremism and racist deportation plans. In Potsdam members of AfD and other right-wing extremists discussed forced expulsion of millions of people from Germany. People from the centre of our society – asylum seekers and even German nationals – our relatives, friends, neighbours and colleagues.

As civil society we don't hide away, but clearly show stance against these inhuman ideas, that endanger our liberal-democratic basic order and our diverse living-together/coexistence. Our support and solidarity apply to all of those in our society who are exposed to racist behaviour.
